Off topic but what is this? It has German plates and looks like it can burn multi fuels, see label on door. We have run into a lot of units shipped by owners for touring but this is unique.

Greg McHugh Here is their blog page showing their travels...

Pam DuPas Does it mean "to be away for awhile" or something like that? they are making an American tour and it looks like they are for sale.
<http://wegaufzeit.de/images/bimobil/abholen.png> It's a fancy camper mounted on a Mercedes truck chassis? 24. April um 15:22

Greg McHugh Bimobil camper on a Mercedes G, something like this one...

Nancy Howse Tonight I'll read their blog. They are now visiting the Grand Canyon.

Nancy Howse Guess I won't "read" their blog. I can't translate. But my gosh they have been all over the WHOLE world. We were parked next to them.

Greg McHugh If you have the chrome browser it can translate it for you on the fly.
